Children's rights in early childhood education. Ellen Lynn Hall, Jennifer Kofkin Rudkin. 2011. 115 pp. $28.95 Paperback. Seen and Heard: Children's Rights in Early Childhood Education. Every child has rights, no matter what their age, where they live or what they believe. Children have a right to be seen and not heard. The authors emphasize the importance of children's rights and our understanding that all children have the same rights, regardless of their age, where they live or what they believe. The book summarizes the importance of children's rights and serves as a resource for early childhood educators, parents, and other professionals working with children. It includes examples from a Reggio-inspired school with children from ages 6 weeks to 6 years, emphasizing the importance of children's rights and our understanding of them. The book is a serious resource that should be viewed by all professionals working with children.
heard in order to be both safe and